

National Security

Weapons of Mass Destruction First Responder Training at the Nevada Test Site

- The National Nuclear Security Administration Nevada Site Office provides weapons of mass destruction training to teach first responders to detect, prevent, respond and to recover from terrorist acts
- First responders participate in scenarios that simulate attacks on radiological transports and terrorist safe houses
- Exercises conducted in facilities that are unique and exclusive to the Nevada Test Site

Training exercises at the Nevada Test Site

The Phoenix Facility is used to simulate realistic terrorist scenarios for first responders

The T-1 training area at the Nevada Test Site contains various realistic transportation accident scenarios